

MOVIE WEB SITES

IMDb: <http://www.imdb.com/>

The people's place for movies is also the largest site with more than 100,000 movies. Each is rated by its members, so a movie's popularity can be judged by the score and number of votes. There are actor bios, top 250 movies, movies by genre and more.

MTV MOVIES: <http://www.mtv.com/movies/>

Here you find youth-oriented, cutting-edge opinions of new and old movies, plus TV. This is also the home of MTV Movie Awards. The site includes trailers, news, buzz, and tons more.

Roger Ebert: <http://rogerebert.suntimes.com/>

He's the daddy of all movie critics. He's been writing reviews for more than thirty years, and he's very good. He does his research, and while Mr. Ebert sometimes seems old fashioned, he always has something interesting to say.

<http://www.netflix.com/>

Along with Blockbuster and Redbox, this is a popular place to rent movies online. You can watch as many movies as you like for about $10/month. Includes viewer feedback.

<http://www.moviefone.com>

This site tells you when and where your favorite movie is playing. It includes reviews and movie news. Find out the latest gossip about your favorite star.
